How am I doing?

Very Good—Children are receive compassionate and responsive care. I seek feedback from parents to help me develop and improve through reflective practice. I identify and undertake training regularly to ensure I am competent andv well trained.

How do I know?

- I recognise the importance of kindness and compassion when interacting with the children
- Through the use of care plans and consultative planning I ensure they receive individualised care and support.
- The views and experiences of the children and taken into consideration when planning.
- My home is a warm, welcoming space where people are respectful towards each other.
- I seek feedback from parents through newsletters, emails, social media and other methods of communication.
- I reflect on my practice through the use of a self-monitoring calendar.
- I receive regular support and training from West Lothian Council and the SCMA
- I am inspected and regulated by the Care Inspectorate and West Lothian Council.
- I understand the importance of continued professional development and undertake regular training
- I am currently working towards a Level 3 qualification in Early Learning and Childcare.

What am I going to do now?

I will do my best to return to completing self monitoring every month, and I will continue to seek feedback from children and parents about the quality of the care I provide.
